

Emory's Student Employee of the Year Congratulations to Tara Farkouh

National Student Employment Week is April 11-17, 2021 Colleges and Universities across the country recognize the importance of the student work experience and honor students this week.

Student supervisors presented nominations for Student Employee of the Year as part of the national celebration. Out of the many student employees nominated, Tara Farkouh has been chosen as our 2021 Emory Student Employee of the Year. Tara is a Senior at the Emory College of Arts and Sciences. She is employed as a member of the Digital Scholarship Support Team in the Center for the Study of Law and Religion. Tara has proven to be an invaluable member of the Digital Scholarship Support Team because of her enthusiasm and curiosity. To quote her supervisor, John Bernau, "Tara has demonstrated outstanding enthusiasm for her work and an exceptional ability to learn and communicate new things. Her curiosity and initiative consistently result in high-quality work that reliably exceeds expectations."

Tara Farkouh, BA Class of 2021

2020-2021 Emory Student Employee of the Year

"My experience as a Digital Scholarship and Administrative Support Team member for the Center for the Study of Law and Religion (CSLR) at Emory's Law School over the past several semesters has been invaluable. I have been part of a team of incredibly supportive student and staff members who have encouraged my personal and professional growth. This position has empowered me and offered me a space to explore. Moreover, it gave me opportunities to acquire new skillsets and take initiatives that I would otherwise have been unable to experience. The guidance and support that I have received from my fellow teammates is probably my favorite thing about being an Emory student employee. "

Student employees are an integral part of the Emory Community and bring exceptional talents to our work environments. Without part-time student employees, many departments would find it difficult to meet mission critical goals.

National Student Employment Week is a perfect time to recognize and celebrate the contributions our student employees make throughout the year. Please join the Office of Financial Aid in presenting our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all of our students who work across the University and with our community partners.
